Pfizer, Moderna Eye Windfall Profits as COVID Booster Rollout Begins

One analyst predicted COVID boosters alone will bring in about $26 billion in global sales next year for Pfizer — who splits profits with BioNTech — and around $14 billion for Moderna if the shots are endorsed for nearly all Americans.

On Sept. 26, Pfizer CEO and Chairman Albert Bourla predicted life will return to normal within a year, but it's likely annual COVID vaccinations will be necessary.

Bourla's vision for a "return to normal life" would position Pfizer and Moderna to make billions in profits dispensing endless booster doses. How much the manufacturers stand to gain depends on how big the rollout is.

"Within a year I think we will be able to come back to normal life," Bourla said in an interview on ABC's "This Week."

Bourla said he does not think this means variants will no longer exist, or that we "should be able to live our lives without having vaccinations."

The "most likely scenario," Bourla said, is annual vaccination with vaccines that last at least a year, "but we don't know really, we need to wait and see the data."

ORDER TODAY: Robert F. Kennedy, Jr.'s New Book — 'The Real Anthony Fauci'

Bourla's prediction echoed that of Moderna CEO Stéphane Bancel, who when asked last week for his estimate of a return to normal life, told Swiss newspaper Neue Zürcher Zeitung the COVID pandemic could be over in a year.

Moderna on Sept. 1 asked the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) to authorize the use of a third booster dose of its COVID vaccine.

Johnson & Johnson still has to submit the data for its booster shot to the FDA for approval, although the company has said it does not plan to profit from its vaccine during the pandemic.

According to the Associated Press (AP), the average forecast among analysts for Moderna's 2022 revenue jumped 35% after President Biden laid out his booster plan in mid-August.

Most vaccines given so far in the U.S. have come from Pfizer and BioNTech. Morningstar analyst Karen Andersen expects boosters alone to bring in about $26 billion in global sales next year for Pfizer — who splits profits with BioNTech — and around $14 billion for Moderna if they are endorsed for nearly all Americans.

Pfizer executives said they expect their pre-tax adjusted profit margin from the vaccine to be in the "high 20s" as a percentage of revenue. That would translate to an estimated profit of $7 billion next year just from boosters, according to Andersen's sales prediction.

This year alone, Pfizer expects its COVID vaccine to generate $33.5 billion in revenue with vaccine supply agreements worth more than $60 billion in sales, just in 2021 and 2022. The agreements include supply of the initial two doses of their vaccines as well as billions of dollars in potential boosters for wealthy nations.

Pfizer's COVID vaccine is projected to make up 42% of the company's total revenue, and will bring more than five times the $5.8 billion racked up last year by the world's most lucrative vaccine — Pfizer's Prevnar13 — a vaccine for pneumococcal disease.

This bodes well for future vaccine development, said Erik Gordon, a business professor at the University of Michigan. Vaccines normally are nowhere near as profitable as treatments, Gordon said. But the success of the COVID shots could draw more drugmakers and venture capitalists into the field.

For Pfizer and Moderna, boosters could be more profitable than original doses because they won't come with the research and development costs the companies incurred to get the vaccines initially on the market, AP reported.

WBB Securities CEO Steve Brozak said the booster shots will represent "almost pure profit" compared with the initial doses.

There is opportunity for Pfizer to generate similar — or higher — levels of revenue in the future as experts predict COVID is here to stay.

The FDA last week authorized a third dose of Pfizer's vaccine for some individuals — those 65 and older and also those "whose frequent institutional or occupational exposure" to the virus puts them at high risk of serious complications from the disease caused by the virus, the agency said.

On Sept. 17, the FDA's Vaccines and Related Biological Products Advisory Committee (VRBPAC), a group of scientists who advise the FDA on vaccine approvals, unanimously recommended Emergency Use Authorization for a booster dose of Pfizer's vaccine for people 65 and older and those with compromised immune systems — but voted 16 – 2 against recommending boosters for the general population, citing a lack of long-term data. The committee said the risks did not outweigh the benefits for those people.

The decision was perceived as a major rebuke of the Biden administration, STAT reported. And it closely followed the resignations of Marion Gruber and Phil Krause, two key FDA vaccine regulators who announced their resignations days after Biden's initial booster announcement.

On Sept. 24, Dr. Rochelle Walensky, director of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), ignored the advice of the agency's vaccine advisory committee, clearing the way for healthcare workers, teachers, grocery store workers, residents of long-term care facilities, homeless shelters, prisons and anyone else considered "high risk" to receive a third Pfizer shot.

Critics slammed the decision, calling it "unjustified and unethical" and a "consolation prize" for Pfizer, which wanted approval for everyone in the general population, over age 16.

Walensky also approved booster shots for older Americans over age 65, and adults with underlying medical conditions at least six months after their first series of shots — in line with the advisory panel.

"It is worrisome to me that anybody less than 30 is going to be getting a third dose without any clear evidence that that's beneficial to them, and with more than theoretical evidence that it could be harmful to them," said Dr. Paul Offit, director of the Vaccine Education Center at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia and member of the CDC's Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices (ACIP).

Offit also expressed concern that in overruling the ACIP, Walensky may have damaged efforts to persuade more unvaccinated adults to be vaccinated against COVID.

"It's not hard to scare people who've already gotten two doses that they should get another dose," Offit said. "I'm sure that you can get them to get 10 more doses."

And to think they outlawed pharmaceutical companies from giving free pens and notepads to doctors because it was a conflict of interest! There just aren't words strong enough to condemn the players in this horrifying chapter in history.

The extreme amounts of taxpayer money that these pharmaceutical giants are getting for their gene therapy that is "leaky" and needs "boosters" is probably the biggest record conflict of interest for the most parties ever. And this is for a disease that is, at best mild for most people but supposedly relatively contagious. Probably about as bad as the regular flu and killing the same people...wait a minute, they're not even counting flu deaths now...it's all lumped in with Covid.

You do NOT mention the may and varied illnesses that shall erupt in people who have these GENE ALTERING INOCULATIONS in their bodies!! Many of those illnesses are new, rare, Chronic that we have already seen teh tip of the iceberg there, for the last 30++ years with Faucis; "releases" of various infectious and viruses.

PROFITS to BIG PHARMA - it has not even touched anywhere near the money yet! Drs consultations (& Drs do not have tried and truly effective knowledge as they did before all this Tech era, hospitalisations - esp., in USA where those costs are exorbitant, physiotherapists, Pathology - the list goes on and on, and many of those tests and treatments are NOT of much use at all, while Big Pharma pills/treatments increase the chance of many other illnesses in the patient(S).

But we must keep cash flowing for the Vanguards and Blackstones funds/investors!! and similar too.

Brilliant discussion!
I'd like to clear up some of the narrative surrounding covid infections as similar to a flu. I'm a registered respiratory therapist who worked a full year with covid patients and never got sick. I acquired covid two months after my employer vaccinated approximately 80% of its employees.

I am a very healthy 57 year old at the time with an amazing immune system. Never get the flu, yet care for flu, TB and pneumonia patients!
I had the gold standard diagnosis of ground glass opacities on a cat scan with my pulse oximeter ranging from 88-93%.
I was told to go home and recover!
No treatment offered! I INSISTED on being given a steroid before leaving the EMR! I INSISTED on being prescribed a bronchodilator, as well as a topical, inhaled steroid! Too many ppl were sent home to die! My husband had much worse symptoms and I again had to INSIST his doctor order him a topical, as well as systemic steroid and a bronchodilator!! His doc said there was nothing he could do for covid!!!!!! This is the SCRIPTED response from all of these sellouts!
Granted, the death rate is on par with the flu, but those with diabetes, cancer, heart issues and obesity are the ones dying because they were told to stay home in order not to overrun

Enough is enough already. There needs to be lawsuits and major lawsuits already. Even lawsuits directed at the drug mgrs (even though we know they are exempt) as nothing is working at stopping the madness at this point. Lawyers should be asking for proof of the pandemic at this point. People are hopelessly clueless and will continue to be. Our only hope is that the smart people and lawyers get involved majorly at this point.

these people are not morons and do know what is going to happen. They knew from day one that masking and social distancing will create more variants for this very fast moving virus. They know that there is no way to vaccinate 8 billion people before another variant is out.

What they are doing can never be accomplished and they know it. They are playing with all of our lives.

10 ^ | v • Reply • Share ›

Leslie N ↗ catoke • 12 days ago

Fast moving virus? You mean the flu virus? And there's no proof of the variants either. They have no way of testing for the supposed variants. There's absolutely no proof that this supposed sar cov 2 isn't just influenza a, b, etc. Masking and social distancing are measures just to put the ultimate scare into people so they accept a dangerous gene therapy shot that never got past animal clinical trials. And don't forget the most important fact of all. THE PENTAGON had paid pfizer and moderna millions of dollars since 2013 to develop their mRNA 'vaccines'. The ONLY way to get people to try these 'vaccines' was to create a fake pandemic and use them as EUA.

^ | v • Reply • Share ›

Leslie N ↗ Sieglinde Koenigseder • 5 days ago

Yes, we are the lab rats. However I truly believe we are the lab rats for these so called vaxxes. The 'virus' and 'lab leak' is simply a breadcrumb left by the powers that be. This way they can play up the terrible danger of this virus. The reality is that people aren't dying of this 'virus' except when immune compromised people get the flu. And are then denied important anti-viral treatments. And now all the vaxxed are getting sick because of auto immune enhancement. And there's no diagnostic tests to determine what people are actually getting sick from. There is NO credible evidence that people are dying from 'covid' as opposed to side effects of the defective vax.

One thing you said is key, and repeated by researchers a couple of months ago. No way to vaccinate 8 billion people fast enough. Some researchers said the only way to have gotten real control and hold down varients is to mass vaccinate everyone on the planet very quickly. This was not possible of course.

Bourla's an idiot! He knows there will never be an end to the poison mRNA injections as these crummy pharma firms will be chasing one mutation after another into eternity. Their plan is to add 2-3 injections every year to the "must inject" list for every person on earth. Their crappy formulas are harmful and even deadly. You need only look at the childhood vaccination schedule increasing from about 5-10 to over 70 in only 30 years. What total nonsense! The pharma companies value profits far more than they value your life. They keep you alive with their poison drugs just long enough to rape your wallet.

8 | • Reply • Share ›

Vickie Kesler Lowell ↗ Ektor • 11 days ago

I think CDC and the rest of the gang all know these injections will happen every 4 months or so and have known that for quite some time. They really are not chasing the mutations anymore in that there is no effort to try and change the vaccine for every "variant of concern" as Pfizer said they were completely able to do. I still wonder how many times these vaccines can gin up a person's immune system over and over in such a short amount of time before some unplanned compromise of the immune system could be seen. Perhaps never, but I don't think we have ever tried to vaccinate with this frequency before.

I appeal to the journalists to find out how these nasty drugs are actually being paid for. For many people these injections are free or are "covered" by some form of government or private insurance. But who writes the check to the manufacturer? Who takes the hit when expired doses are discarded (if indeed they are). If people are being charged at the doctor's office, how much? Since most providers are no longer the friendly neighborhood doctor, how much are HMO's charging? Is it a sliding scale? Or is it whatever the market will bear? Thanks.

Money for murder, vaxxine manufacturers seem to be deciding the vaxxination schedule for the population. This sickness and madness must end, corporations driving legislation on this planet is not in any constitution and not in anyone's interest except theirs. There is no going back to normal, there will be fake variant after variant when it will be the vaxxination causing death and illness and even new viruses on the horizon. The NWO have got their teeth right into this scam and they won't let go, after this we will have the climate change scam where people won't even be allowed to travel because of emissions and not even be allowed to leave their own region without special authorization unless your an elite. Be well aware what is coming because everyone has to wake up and unite against this tyranny. We also need to bring an end to our politicians and political system which does not serve us they are merely puppets for the cabal and are treasonous sellouts, if they had one once of integrity they would turn their backs on the lobbyists and their 60 shekels of silver. That's why the political system has never served us and we must find another paradigm for us to go forward and find happiness again.

I spent some time with a lady yesterday and her daughter is a speech pathologist. She said it has been quite challenging to work with children with speech problems when they are wearing masks....I mean, really?

Then we began to talk about the jabs and she said her daughter got both jabs because she wanted to keep her job and most likely will get the booster. The problem herein lies that this young lady actually wants to get the booster. She thinks it is what is keeping her well. So will people choose not to get the booster? Probably not. Because the claim to fame for these vaccines is not stopping transmission. It is holding down the effects of the virus on your body if you catch it. Really, that was all they were created to do but the CDC and others were hoping they would prevent transmission too. Their sites say it does to a degree.

The claim to fame for these vaccines is that they make billionaires. They do not lessen severity of symptoms; that claim is made because ithey have failed to stop infection or transmission. They create severe side effects that are blamed on "covid" which perpetuates the plandemic; the longer the plandemic runs, the more profit for CDC and big pharmaceutical as they push lucrative testing and injections. As the injections injure, they have an alibi to create more drugs to fix the damage done by their jabs, blamd on the covid scam. Similar to a forest fire fighter who sets a fire to make work.
